Mr. James Cheeseman's Death at Cincinnati Yesterday.

He was formerly connected with the C. and N. Railroad office in this city, but for some time past has been Ticket Agent at the Fourth Street Depot of the C. and O. at Cincinnati.

ELECTROCUTED!

The New Death Agent Tried Here Successfully Yesterday.

The first electrocution took place in this city yesterday.

Captain John V. Day, Colonel James W. Limerick and a sixteen-rattle-and-a-half rattlesnake were the parties to it.

Some friend had sent Mr. Day the rattle, and as he had no use for it in its "active" condition concluded to dispatch it.

Mr. Limerick volunteered to give it to an electric "jolt," so he rigged up an apparatus, charged with 500 volts, and when he approached the box his snapshot set up a dead rattle.

Reaching into the box with a wire he "touched" the serpent on the throat.

The rattle ceased at once, the "snak" turned bottom side up, and it was all over.

Both gentlemen and the snake voted the electrocution a grand success.

Mrs. Rhode Noah, of this place, was taken in the night with violent pains in the abdomen, diarrhoea set in, took half a bottle of blackberry cordial but got no relief. She then sent me to see if I had anything that would help her. I sent her a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and the first dose relieved her. Another of our neighbors had been sick for about a week and had tried different remedies for diarrhoea but kept getting worse. I sent him this same remedy. Only four doses of it were required to cure him. He says he owes his recovery to this wonderful remedy.—Mrs. Mary Sibley, Sidney, Mich.

COME IN AND SIGN THE PETITION.

The List Open at The Ledger Office—Will Require Nearly 200 Signatures.

Before the County Judge can order an election for Free Turnpikes, he must be presented with a petition signed by 15 per cent of the voters who voted in the general or county election.

At the Gubernatorial election held in November, 1895, there were 4,430 votes cast in Mason county for Governor.

Fifteen per cent of this number would be 665.

There is now open at THE LEDGER office a petition to the County Judge, requesting him to call an election in November next, that the people may vote as to whether they do or do not want free turnpikes.

He is in sign and it.

Mr. J. Barbour Russell is the possessor of a novel "goldbug" campaign badge.

ANOTHER SHOOTING.

Early Shoffstall Plunks Martin McDonough a Couple of Times.

Martin McDonough was shot a couple of times last evening, but he is not seriously hurt.

The trouble took place at Poyntz Bros. Distillery in the West End.

Early Shoffstall has been in the employ of the Poyntz Bros. for some ten years, and late yesterday afternoon he was attending to his business as usual.

McDonough went to the premises and as he had no use for it in its "active" condition concluded to dispatch it.

Mr. Limerick volunteered to give it to an electric "jolt," so he rigged up an apparatus, charged with 500 volts, and when he approached the box his snapshot set up a dead rattle.

Reaching into the box with a wire he "touched" the serpent on the throat.

The rattle ceased at once, the "snak" turned bottom side up, and it was all over.

Both gentlemen and the snake voted the electrocution a grand success.

YESTERDAY'S GAME.

The Knoxville Indians Won by a Score of 7 to 5.

Yesterday's game at Knoxville was won by the Indians.

The score was—Knoxville, 7; Mayville, 5.

There's no excuse to be found in the calendar why the Kernels should ever lose a game to the Indians, as our boys are better all round ball players by far than the Knoxville team.

Maybe it's the tidal wave of hard luck that strikes the boys sometimes.

But look out for ball-playing when the League season opens.

LONG LIFE ENDED.

Sketch of the Late C. Z. Duley of Fleming County.

THE LEDGER yesterday printed a brief announcement of the death of Mr. C. Z. Duley at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. John N. Lee, near Tilton, on Wednesday, July 29th, at 6 o'clock p. m., in his 76th year.

The following sketch of his long life is from the Fleming Times-Democrat, edited by his son, Mr. Hiram Duley: Charles Zadock Duley was the youngest son of Zadock and Susannah Duley, and was born in the old homeestead near Tilton March 17th, 1818. December 13th, 1842, he was married to Sophia Northcott Duley, who survives him. To them were born four children, the writer being the oldest, Mrs. John N. Lee, Mrs. J. C. B. Souday, now deceased, and John Duley of Maysville. To his children he was a loving father, anxious to promote the temporal and spiritual welfare of those whom the Lord had given him. For sixty years he had been a member of the M. E. Church, South, and though for three years he had been a helpless paralytic, unable to engage in the acts of devotion which had characterized his whole life, we feel safe in saying that the Lord was his Shepherd and is now leading him beside the still waters. Of his life and character as a citizen and a neighbor it would perhaps not be proper for us to speak, but those who knew him during his long sojourn in this country can testify. After a long and irksome illness though not racked by acute pain, the end came at the stroke of 6 o'clock, and the Lord of the Harvest summoned him from labor to rest and refreshment, and he answered the summons without a tremor. Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

The funeral took place from the home-stead at 9 o'clock this morning, and the remains were taken to rest in the beautiful Poyntz.

COLLISION!

A Special Excursion Train on the West Jersey Railroad

Crashed Into An Express Train From Philadelphia.

Forty-Two People Killed and Eighty or More Wounded. The Operator at the Wheel Was Pierced Under Arrest.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 31.—A terrible railroad catastrophe took place on the Main Line about two miles out of this city, shortly after 7 o'clock Thursday evening, resulting in the death of 42 people, so far as now can be learned, and the wounding of 80 others. A train left here consisting of seven cars over the West Jersey road bearing a special excursion of Red Men and their friends, of Bridgeton, N. J., and Salem, and had reached the crossing of the Reading railroad when it was struck by a freight train, 5:40 down express from Philadelphia, demolishing two cars and telescoping the two following. The engine of the Reading train became a total wreck, killing the engineer and fatally injuring his fireman. The body of the latter also was thrown from the track and many of its occupants killed or injured.

The responsibility of the collision has not yet been placed, but William Thawer, the operator at the wheel tower situated at the crossing, has been placed under arrest by order of the coroner.

Leaving this city the tracks of the West Jersey road run parallel to those of the Central and Atlantic, and when they cross the bridge-superior, when they switch off to the south, crossing the Reading road at an obtuse angle.

John Greiner, the engineer of the West Jersey train, saw the Reading train approaching the crossing at a swift speed, but as the signals were open for him to proceed on his way he continued. His engine had barely cleared the track of the Reading when he saw the signal for the Reading had left Philadelphia at 6:49 struck the first car full in the center, throwing it far off the track into a nearby ditch, and completely submerging it. The second car of the West Jersey train was also carried into the ditch, the third and fourth cars being telescoped. The engine of the Reading train was thrown to the other side of the track, carrying with it the first coach, which was split in two, and the train, to add to the horrors of the scene, the boiler of the Reading locomotive exploded, sealing several cracks and causing its boiling spray over many of the injured passengers.

As soon as the news reached this city, the whole town and thousands of people flocked to the scene. The road leading to the place of the collision was a constant procession of horses, wagons, and bicycles and all kinds of vehicles, while thousands of pedestrians hurried along the path to render what assistance they could or to satisfy their curiosity.

Darkness fell quickly and the work of removing the dead and the dead bodies was carried out under the glare of huge bonfires. It was a grisly sight presented to onlookers as the mangled and burnt forms of the dead were carried from the wreckage which lay about, and laid side by side on the grass bank near the track with no other pall than the few old newspapers gathered from the passengers. The wounded were quickly gathered together and carried by train and wagon to the Atlantic City hospital, where six of them died shortly after their arrival.

The old Excursion house at the foot of Mississippi avenue was converted into a mortuary and the dead were taken there. At late noon Thursday evening there were 29 bodies laid out there, none of whom are yet identified. This city is terribly excited over the accident. The streets in the vicinity of the scene were crowded with the city hospital, as well as the road leading to the scene of the accident, being packed with people anxious to learn the latest. The Bridgeton and Salem excursionists who escaped injury were brought back to this city and sent home on a special train several hours later in the evening.

JAMES HOYT, secretary of the department of public safety, immediately upon learning of the terrible catastrophe telephoned for the press to issue emergency copy, 150 of whom he responded, and hurried to this city on a special train, which left Philadelphia at 10:45 p.m. These surges materially assisted the efforts of this city, who deserved most credit for this accident.

Mrs. Edward Farn, the wife of the engineer, who met death while performing his duty and was found with one hand on the throttle and the other on the brake, when informed of her accident and her husband's tragic death, was unable to withstand the shock and fell to the floor dead.

National Republican Executive Committee

BOSTON, July 31.—The national republican executive committee members were all at their desks again Thursday and did a lot of work, much of which was either of no public interest or was given to us as M. Davis said: "It is the time for us to take up our business now and we can't discuss our plan of campaign to the death."

Congressman Cousins Resigned.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., July 31.—Congressman Robert G. Cousins has been unanimously renominated by the Fifth district republican convention.

SHOT TO DEATH
Saloonkeeper Killed by Highwaymen on Main Street.

CINCINNATI, July 31.—Hitzler, who conducts a saloon at 1229 West Sixth street, was the victim of a cold-blooded murder about 11 o'clock Thursday night.

The facts as the police could learn Hitler had a good reputation and had no enemies. Notwithstanding these facts he was shot down in cold blood. The only witness to the tragedy was his wife, Mrs. Hitzler. The shooting occurred in the saloon, but Hitler gamely pursued his assailant out into the street with four bullets in his body. There were eight shots fired altogether.

He was admitted to a 1 o'clock Hitzler arose and looked at his wife. "It's after 11 o'clock, and, as things are quiet, I guess I'll close up. Sit here until I fill the bottles and put up the shutters, and we'll be all right."

The saloon keeper then walked leisurely into the barroom. He was just about to turn around the counter of the place when two men entered the saloon and motioned him to leave. The two men were Hitzler and his wife, and he was hit by his wife's presence, and their object was to murder him and get what few dollars there might be in the cash drawer in the barroom.

The two men reached the barroom, but they beat almost as soon as Hitzler did, but they gave him enough time to get a few feet ahead of them. The intruders hid their faces by improvised masks of white handkerchiefs. One of the handkerchiefs was dark, while the other was white. Just as Hitzler turned to go behind the bar the intruders opened fire on him. Not a word was spoken by the two men. Mrs. Hitzler heard the volley of shots and ran toward the barroom, but she was halfway out of the barroom and pushed him aside. The fellow fled through the rear yard to Front street. Mrs. Hitzler followed him, saw the two men run into the saloon in time to see her husband chasing one of the masked men to the street in front of the place. The two men were firing at each other again. Hitzler was already bleeding profusely, a wound in the neck, but he gamely pursued the masked man to the street.

During the short chase the fleeing highwayman turned half way around and fired a bullet into the body of his victim.

When Hitler got to the middle of the street he sank down on the hard granite blocks from exhaustion. He had bled freely and was very weak and also too over fatigued to walk, and ran into the saloon in time to see his husband chasing one of the masked men to the street in front of the place.

The two men were firing at each other again. Hitzler was already bleeding profusely, a wound in the neck, but he gamely pursued the masked man to the street.

"I'm gone, but I shot 'em both," said his grim fellow, and tried to smile at his victim. The poor woman stood over and kissed her husband and then begged some railroad men to carry the wounded man into the house. Some engineers of the Big Four yards called Hitler into the sitting room. In the rear of the saloon, and he died a few minutes later.

A man giving his name as Tom Carter was arrested a few minutes later, body wounded, as one of the assassins. The other is at large but will soon be arrested.

THREE KILLED
And Another Seriously Injured at Lake Okeechobee, Tenn.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 31.—Three people were killed and drowned and a fourth seriously injured in an accident at Lake Okeechobee, an outing resort three miles from Knoxville yesterday afternoon. The dead are: Charles Ferry, aged 18; Walter Wright, aged 21; Miss Carrie Phibbs, aged 17. The injured is Mrs. Forrester, a widow, who was pulled from the water by her husband, whose life was fastly flickering away.

"I'm gone, but I shot 'em both," said his grim fellow, and tried to smile at his victim. The poor woman stood over and kissed her husband and then begged some railroad men to carry the wounded man into the house. Some engineers of the Big Four yards called Hitler into the sitting room. In the rear of the saloon, and he died a few minutes later.

A man giving his name as Tom Carter was arrested a few minutes later, body wounded, as one of the assassins. The other is at large but will soon be arrested.

By RICHARD COOPER CLEVELAND
Secretary of State

The president's warning proclamation as to Cuban filibusters is understood to be one of the results of Secretary Olney's recent visits to Grayson and is thought to be a strong measure at least, the administration's position to the petitions and complaints against Spain's treatment of Americans in Cuba, which can best be vigorously prosecuted. And I do hereby invoke the co-operation of all good citizens of the United States in the detection and apprehension of any offenders against the same and of hereby enjoin upon the attorney general to prosecute the utmost diligence in preventing, prosecuting and punishing any infractions thereof.

The party was rowing on the lake in the park in a light row boat, and through carelessness they came in the course of the chute boat as it came down the stone incline in the water. The chute boat had been driven ten per cent, dashed down the incline in a rapid rate of speed and hit the water with much force. It rebounded into the air and on the second bounce struck the row boat with its occurrence, and enveloped the row boat and killed its passenger with the exception of Mrs. Forrester, who came to the surface and caught on to the stern of the boat when she clung until assistance arrived. Both were soon put to work and the bodies recovered. An examination showed that the young people had been terribly bruised and perhaps killed by the chute boat when it struck them. They were buried in the Broad Street M. E. church, south, which was having its annual picnic at the lake when the accident occurred.
